

Our experience with CCPC as a business partner was started with their passion and excitement on great business idea, but more of that, because CCPC have values and goals that align with ours which would be detrimental to our business.

CCPC is a business partner that is direct and could bring honest feedback to any situation. We don't have to guess if they said what's on their mind or how they feel about it. In the business is better when partners are direct with one another.

CCPC's proven track record and firm understanding of the industry, has made partners more time to focus on improving their business.

CCPC's broad, diversified products and its long-term vision are the quality of a reliable partner any company would seek.

May this journey of CCPC's success continue in the coming years. Wish you and your excellent crews a happy anniversary!

Iwan Koswara

HARSEN LABORATORIES